Commissioner Herrick comments for inclusion in the Commissioner Reports agenda item of the July 15, 2024 Library Commission meeting

Topic: a brief report stemming from the June 17, 2024 agenda item D1. 2024-25 work plan study session

Why: the excellent and fruitful discussion in the study session produced some comments which we, as a commission, were unable to bring to a logical wrap, in the discussion. Additionally, Commissioner Herrick understood a few items/aspirations were addressed to his and Commissioner Shafer's area of professional training which could use clarification.

Comments:

- 1) Library science: an expectation seemed to have been expressed that commissioners Herrick and Shafer are positioned to lead or express significant ideas in a visioning and long-term strategic planning exercise we are contemplating for the coming year. I think this is true, to an extent, but two points need to be emphasized. A) Commissioners with legal and finance backgrounds are very well equipped, probably better than librarians, to lead a visioning and strategic planning process aimed at producing a truly long-term impact on our community. B) Library professionals employed by the City, who serve the needs of this actual community in a public library capacity, will contribute the most valuable ideas for growth and change within the Menlo Park and Peninsula/Bay Area library sector. I think Herrick and Shafer can serve a role in amplifying some of the professionally informed statements of City staff. One example springs to mind. Every community hopes that the public library might bring greater access to digital content, both in quantity and quality in the coming years. Rose Waldman's and Nick Szegda's comments at 1:38:00 to about 1:46:00 in the March 18, 2024 meeting should be highlighted (re:physical "traditional" carrier vs. digital carrier content procurement options for libraries). While there are some ways for libraries to partner with the for-profit sector to bring digital content to community members in affordable ways, they are currently limited. Time and again over the past 3 decades owners of digital content have proven they do not want to work with libraries in the same way in which libraries have had equal access to the purchase of content distributed on physical carriers. Open Educational Resources and similar open content initiatives will ideally grow in the coming decades but we, as librarians, continue to face an uphill battle vis-a-vis the digital realm's success in monetizing just about everything in often non-transparent ways. We, as a Menlo Park library community, are certainly physically situated in prime territory to advocate to the for-profit digital industry about this unfortunate, for libraries and the democracy which they nurture, situation.
- 2) Library Commission's scope: What I understand to be the defining feature of library services is that they are delivered via methods of free, equal and transparent access. A community needs money to do that but the key distinctions for library-provided services, as opposed to other community services, are these three foundational concepts. As we define the Library Commission's sphere of activity and engagement within the entire Library and Community Services Department we might ask whether a service area contributes to one or all of those concepts and/or is the service contributing to the life of the mind and learning. The ways I have personally observed the library and other community services staff members interacting with the City's early childhood education programs, I think, qualifies for our Commission's interest and attention. The programs are not free but the ways in which the City has integrated learning and enrichment services into those programs is admirable and probably a model for how other publicly-funded education services should be striving to integrate and cost-save across total community services. There are probably other community services to which we might apply the library mindset and ethos as we think about libraries as agents in their communities for nurturing healthy democracies.

- 3) Bikes: I think I was not alone in wondering why Commissioner Pollack, toward the end of our discussions, brought up biking to the library as an element of focus for our commission. The recent Bike to the Library event and the Commission's expressed desire to think of services more broadly than just "buying and circulating books and DVDs" could bring a "bikes" topic into our long-term thinking. But, over the past weeks, as I mused on whether bikes and libraries are a natural fit, I began to wonder whether we should intentionally explore, in relation to library services, the concept of Hyperlocal which was recently introduced by the City in planning for the Belle Haven campus. Are there innovative options, when considering library and education services, we should consider which take hyperlocal activity or behavior into account? I understand, thus far, the City has used a definition of hyperlocal to manage fee collection for recreation and other services. The Library Commission may be wise to consider investigating whether there are any benefits to a hyperlocal approach in delivering library services in Menlo Park. When I went back to watch the clip of the March 18, 2024 discussion this month, referred to above, I was struck that the lead-in to the example which Commissioner Chen Rekhhi gave about digital versus physical carriers actually referenced a barrier to access which involved getting in a car in order to get to the library to get a physical copy of a book. The assumption in the ensuing conversation seemed to be that digital is the solution because digital is "advanced" and, in theory, more accessible if we can thread our society's profit-incentive needle in order to expand library access. But, with education recommendations coming in more and more forcefully in our community against prolonged screen time as a not-so-healthy behavior perhaps we might be wise to expand our investigating and visioning beyond a physical/main library-digital divide to question whether hyperlocal is possible and what that could look like in Menlo Park specifically?

Library Commission

Meeting Date:

8/19/2024

Staff Report Number:

LC-2024-024

Regular Business:

Recommend the Library Commission work plan for 2024-25

Recommendation

City staff recommends that the Library Commission (LC) recommend its annual work plan (Attachment A) to the City Council for approval.

Policy Issues

City Council Policy CC-23-004 (Attachment B) sets the procedures, roles and responsibilities of Council-appointed advisory bodies, including the LC. The policy requires that each advisory body develop an annual work plan, which will be the foundation for the work performed by the advisory body in support of City Council annual work plan. The plan, once finalized by a majority of the advisory body, will be formally presented to the City Council for direction and approval no later than September 30 of each year and then reported out on by a representative of the advisory body at a regularly scheduled City Council meeting at least annually, but recommended twice a year.

Background

On Sept. 26, 2023, City Council approved the LC's current work plan 2023-24. (Attachment C).

On June 14, the LC discussed potential updates and a proposed work plan for 2024-25 (Attachment D).

Analysis

The proposed work plan in Attachment A is based on the LC's updates discussed June 27, and includes eleven goals.

Goals that are carried over from the previous year's work plan include:

- Serve as a forum for public information and discussion on library issues
- Review and advise staff on library policies
- The goal related to Belle Haven Community Campus project construction and startup was updated to focus on the new facility's programs and operations.

Goals that are new include:

- Advise staff on early education programs at City-run child development centers
- Review current library services to identify potential gaps for specific age groups and affinity groups
- Analyze options for potential capital improvements to the 800 Alma St. facility.

Impact on City Resources

As an advisory body to the City Council, the Library Commission does not authorize resource allocations. City budget authorizations are the sole purview of the City Council. There is no substantive impact to the City's general fund related to the topics in this report.

Environmental Review

This report is not a project within the meaning of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines §§ 15378 and 15061(b)(3) as it will not result in any direct or indirect physical change in the environment.

Public Notice

Public notification was achieved by posting the agenda, with the agenda items being listed, at least 72 hours prior to the meeting.

STAFF REPORT

Library Commission

Meeting Date:

8/19/2024

Staff Report Number:

LC-2024-025

Regular Business:

Establish an ad-hoc subcommittee focused on the library's role in the community and the community's needs for library services

Recommendation

City staff recommends that the Library Commission (LC) establish an ad-hoc subcommittee focused on the library's role in the community and the needs expressed by the community for library services.

Policy Issues

The LC may establish subcommittees of less than a quorum of the LC members in order to support and/or expedite the full LC's review and consideration of matters within the LC's purview. Standing subcommittees that have continuing subject matter jurisdiction or a meeting schedule established by the LC are subject to the Brown Act (see Government Code §54952(b)). Ad hoc or temporary subcommittees, on the other hand, are advisory by nature, temporary, formed to complete a specific task, and will disband automatically upon completion. Ad hoc subcommittees are informal, and their meetings are not subject to the open meetings act.

Background

On June 17, 2024, the LC held a study session to review and update their work plan. During the LC's discussion about developing future work plan goals, LC members expressed interest in discussing a vision of the library and of library services to meet the changing needs of the community.

Analysis

Staff recommends that the LC discuss a proposed scope of the work that would be assigned to an ad-hoc subcommittee if an ad-hoc subcommittee is established, including any outputs that the subcommittee would be expected to bring back to the full LC and a timeline for the ad-hoc subcommittee to complete its work.

If the LC desires to establish an ad-hoc subcommittee and scope of work, then staff recommends that the LC take action to:

1. Establish the ad-hoc subcommittee
2. Define the ad-hoc subcommittee's scope of work, outputs, and timeline
3. Appoint no more than three (3) LC members to serve on the ad-hoc subcommittee.

Impact on City Resources

As an advisory body to the City Council, the Library Commission does not authorize resource allocations. City budget authorizations are the sole purview of the City Council. There is no substantive impact to the City's general fund related to the topics in this report.

Environmental Review

STAFF REPORT*Library Commission*Meeting Date:*8/19/2024*Staff Report Number:*LC-2024-026*Informational Item:*Update on departmental strategic plan goal: achieve Star Library rating on the Library Journal Index of Public Library Service*Recommendation

City staff recommends that the Library Commission (LC) receive this update on the departmental goal to achieve a Star Library rating on the Library Journal Index of Public Library Service.

Policy Issues

As a duly appointed advisory body to the City Council, the LC may review and provide feedback on Library and Community Services departmental goals as the need arises.

Background

The Library and Community Services (LCS) department strategic plan 2024-26, Task 3.1.h, sets a performance goal of achieving a Star Library rating on the Library Journal Index of Public Library Service by fall 2026 (Attachment A).

Analysis

The Library Journal (LJ) Index of Public Library Service (Index) is a national rating system designed to "...recognize and promote America's public libraries, to help improve the pool of nationally collected library statistics, and to encourage library self-evaluation" (Attachment B). The Index has been published annually since 2009. The Index measures the level of library service relative to peer libraries nationally and is a useful tool for benchmarking. The Index is primarily a measure of service outputs and does not purport to measure effectiveness, quality, and/or value of library services. While a particular rating is not indicative of the responsiveness of any given library's services to community needs, it remains a useful benchmark in relation to the outputs of libraries nationwide.

Libraries are rated for the Index based on statistical data submitted annually to state libraries and then compiled by the Institute for Museum and Library Studies (IMLS). The statistical data used in the Index trails by two calendar years (for example, as of the writing of this report, the most recent Index is using 2020 data to rate libraries in 2022). The statistical indicators used for the Index include:

- Library visits
- Circulation (including circulation of electronic materials)
- Program attendance
- Public Internet computer use

The Index separates libraries into nine peer groups based on annual budget. It then calculates a score for each library using the four statistical indicators above. Per capita rates are calculated for each statistical indicator, compared to the average rate for each peer group, and totaled to produce relative rankings. The top 30 scores in each peer group in the Index are designated as "Star Libraries". The top 10 receive a five-star rating, the next ten four stars, and the final ten three stars.

In 2022, Menlo Park Library was ranked 120th highest out of 1,095 libraries nationwide in the $1 million to $4.9 million budget peer group (Attachment C). Menlo Park Library was ranked 4th highest among California libraries in the peer group.

Menlo Park Library outputs rank comparatively well in circulation of physical materials per capita. To achieve a national Star Library rating, outputs would need to increase in the categories of public internet computer users per capita, successful retrieval of electronic materials per capita, and program attendance per capita. Staff is evaluating various strategies for increasing outputs in these areas and will present the strategies to the LC at a future meeting tentatively in fall 2024. Staff also is evaluating other comparative data compilations, including California State Library statistical data (Attachment D) and Public Library Association Benchmark data (Attachment E) for benchmarking Menlo Park Library to other libraries in the state and nation.

Impact on City Resources

As an advisory body to the City Council, the Library Commission does not authorize resource allocations. City budget authorizations are the sole purview of the City Council. There is no substantive impact to the City's general fund related to the topics in this report.

Environmental Review

This report is not a project within the meaning of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines §§ 15378 and 15061(b)(3) as it will not result in any direct or indirect physical change in the environment.

STAFF REPORT

Meeting Date:

8/19/2024

Staff Report Number:

LC-2024-027

Informational Item:

Library and Community Services department updates

Recommendation

City staff recommends that the Library Commission (LC) review this informational report about recent activities in the Library and Community Services department.

Policy Issues

As duly appointed advisory bodies to the City Council, the LC is charged with advising the City Council on matters related to the City's libraries.

Background

The Library and Community Services department (LCS) provides lifelong learning and recreational opportunities for Menlo Park residents of all ages, abilities, and lived experiences. Programs and facilities include public libraries, recreation and sports, early childhood education, after-school programs, summer youth camps, older adults (senior) services, athletic fields and courts, community events, and aquatics.

Analysis

July 2024 statistics

LCS collects statistics related to department activities. These data help to inform decision-making and improve services to the community. Statistics through July 2024 are provided in Attachment A.

Library re-roofing capital project

A capital project to replace the roof shingles of the Menlo Park Library building at 800 Alma St. is set to begin construction work next month. The current roof material consists of ceramic shingles installed in 1991, and has reached the end of its serviceable lifespan. Maintenance-related foot traffic over the decades has caused hairline cracks which are virtually impossible to repair with the current material. The replacement project will use new asphalt shingles which are attractive, durable and easier to maintain than ceramic shingles, and will prepare the library roof to accommodate the future installation of a solar voltaic system. The work is scheduled to begin at the end of September and last for several weeks. The library is expected to remain open for it's usual business hours throughout the project. Minor disturbances due to construction noise are anticipated. Public announcements and signage are planned to inform library visitors about the project. On Nov. 15, 2022, City Council accepted a $509,000 grant from the California State Library toward the project costs (Attachment B).

Event recap: Library Adventure!

More than 200 library lovers, many in costume, attended the popular Library Adventure event on July 24 at Menlo Park Library. Library Adventure is a themed scavenger hunt that is full of puzzles and fun for all ages. Participants are encouraged to attend in costume and solve three quests to learn more about the library and its collections. Participants won fabulous prizes donated by Friends of Menlo Park Library. The next Library Adventure event is planned for winter 2024 at Belle Haven Library.

Friends of the Library book sale

The quarterly Friends of the Library book sale, held on July 26th and 27th at Menlo Park Library raised more than $8,000. Friends of Menlo Park Library is an all-volunteer, independent 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization whose sole mission is to support Menlo Park Library services and programs. Their primary source of fundraising income is through the sale of donated used books. One hundred percent of the proceeds from their fundraising efforts support library programs and collections. Library staff are grateful for the Friends of Menlo Park Library and the volunteer work they do to support Menlo Park Library.

Public Notice

Public notification was achieved by posting the agenda, with the agenda items being listed, at least 72 hours prior to the meeting.
